What is the Omegaverse?

Hailing from Europe and the Americas, it is a special universe for BL. Originally intended as a parody of sci-fi works, it has sort of branched into the 3D realm. In so-f, it depicts love between male werewolves and there are three categories. The alpha, beta and omega. From there, a hierarchy is formed based on the patriarchal system, except with types of humans. There are then many types of arrangements for the omegaverse, and countless versions of it. Since the originator of this idea is unknown, there is no set canon universe. It's this freedom to do whatever you want with it that makes the omegaverse so enticing.

After saying that, to a user reading something with a ton of different perspectives, and to have it all come together and read smoothly is a very high hurdle to overcome. To bring readers to more easily understand and enjoy this world, that is the reason for the "Omegaverse Project". The Omegaverse Project aims to collect works that bring surprises and excitement, and boundless possibilities to the BL world. And all of these works depicting this world have been gathered together

α , β , Ω are:

Long long ago, there existed two genders: Male and female. However, due to the rapid decline of the human population, developments had taken place. The only difference between male and female were outward appearances. All humans became capable of pregnancy. The males had tubes connecting their anuses to their wombs. And when females were stimulated, their diters would also become erect and ejacl semen.

α

- Males have a "tine"
- The amount of semen during ejaculation is the highest among the three classes
- They have random heats
- They carry pheromones that differentiate them by class

β

- There is no Estrus
- As a partner to an omega, they are turned on, but maintain rational over reason.

Ω

- Has Estrus
- Estrus happens for seven days every month
- Rare chance of becoming pregnant outside of Estrus
- Has no pheromones

Is the only one where males have "heats" and have a high chance of reproduction with omegas. Aside from that, they also have a high sperm count. Although there is no other difference than in their pheromones, in society, they stand above the betas and omegas.

They make up the majority of the population, and are basically used by the alphas. But in recent years, due to their hard work, they have been able to marry alphas, so have sometimes reached the same rank as alphas.

They experience estrus, and due to their lack of sperm productivity, they hold a lower position than the alphas and betas. Before the invention of suppressors, they would stay at home and were not allowed to work outside.

{ Out of 10 people ... }

2 are Alphas,

7 are Betas,

1 is an Omega.

{ The Life of an α , β and Ω }

School

Co-Ed Schools

They have a special curriculum for alphas. Betas and omegas are also able to enter this school, but those courses are optional for them. It's a class established on the idea that alphas are more talented and capable than betas and omegas, so the level is much higher.

Alpha schools

These schools are exclusive to alphas. They have exclusive schools for alphas, but none for betas or omegas.

Work

(α)

Presidents and executive positions are mostly possessed by alphas. And there are a lot of family-run companies. Alphas have strong connections with each other, so it is easy for them to join the working world.

(β)

There are betas who are as capable as alphas and hold the same positions as them, but the majority of them work under alphas.

(Ω)

Since the invention of suppressants, they have been taking on more subordinate roles. In order to overcome prejudice, the government subsidizes employment for omegas.

Marriage

Alphas, betas and omegas all normally marry within their classes. Especially alphas, who desire to preserve their date blood and keep their blood pure. The probability of children born are Beta-Alpha-Omega, and so to increase the chances of an alpha, alphas will marry each other. When they do that, they monopolize the privileged class. And because of that, betas and omegas strive to marry an alpha. It was only after the human rights movement in 1912 that marriages between omegas and betas, or omegas and alphas began increasing. However, it's still not safe to say that interracial marriage is a common thing.

{ To protect oneself, an omega must: }

1. Preserve their virginity to their schools starting from middle school onwards
2. Omegas must preserve their virginity to their masters
3. They must use suppressants and special medicine

{ Estrus suppressants are: }

In the 1930s, special medicine for omegas was released. Using the alpha hormone as a base, it suppresses the omega hormones and decreases the amount of pheromones released. The effectiveness varies from person to person, and there are those who have allergies and those that it causes effects on. For those, they are still waiting for the development of new medication.

(Pill)

Once a day, one pill needs to be taken. It should not have any side effects that might affect the people.

(Special medicine)

When you get this, expect no wonder or magic. The best will subside with a few minutes, but there are strong side effects to this, including headache, vomiting, dizziness, etc. It is to be used in school, work, stations and public areas.

There are no alphas, or betas or omegas.
It is just a relationship between a man and a woman.

In our world, anyone can give birth.
